

Hello my friend...

Welcome to Day 1 of our 21 Days English Challenge.

today's video is very very important and super special for you.

Because

Today you will learn the most powerful part of English...

The base... the foundation... the heart of English speaking:

Present Tenses.

There are 12 tenses in English.

English has 3 main time forms: • Present

- Past

- Future

And each time form has 4 parts, which makes 12 tenses total:

But today we are learning only the present tense

Present simple.

Present continues.

Present perfect.

And...

Present perfect continues.

If you understand present tenses,

you can speak about your life...

your habits...

your actions...

your experiences...

your progress...

everything.

Maybe you feel shy when you speak English...

Maybe sometimes the words get stuck...

Or maybe you understand English...

but you cannot speak confidently.

It's okay.

Really... it's okay.

Because from today, everything will change.

You can talk to anyone with confidence.

You can express yourself clearly.

You can speak English without thinking too much.

Just smooth, natural English.

So today, let me guide you in the simplest, easiest English.

Because this is not just a lesson...

This is the beginning of your new English life.

A new version of you...

More confident... more clear... more powerful.

If you're a regular viewer thank you so much for choosing this channel for English.

And...

If you're new here subscribe to this channel.

This channel is made just for you.

If you download the PDF File and contact me directly hundred percent free of cost you can join our Whatsapp channel

Link in the discription after watching this video you can join us

Ok

Number 1: Present Tense

Present Tense is used when we talk

- daily routine
- habits
- things that happen again and again
- facts
- things that are always true
- feelings and likes/dislikes

Think of Present Simple as your normal daily life.

Think of Present Simple as your normal daily life.

How to Make Present Simple Sentences

I / You / We / They → use normal verb

For example Example: I eat. They play.

He / She / It → use verb + s/es

For Example: He eats. She plays.

WHEN WE USE PRESENT SIMPLE

Daily Routine

Things you do every day.

Examples:

I wake up at 7 AM.

I eat breakfast every morning.

She goes to school every day.

They sleep early at night.

✓ Habits

Things you do again and again.

Examples:

I read books.

She drinks tea every evening.

They play cricket every Sunday.

✓ Permanent Facts

Things that are always true.

Examples:

The sun rises in the east.

Water boils at 100 degrees.

Birds fly in the sky.

✓ Likes & Dislikes

Things you love or hate.

Examples:

I like chocolate.

She loves music.

He hates waiting.

We enjoy learning English.

✓ General Truths

Things that stay the same for a long time.

Examples:

I live in Pakistan.

She works in an office.

They study at the same school.

NEGATIVE FORM

- I/You/We/They do not (don't) + verb

- He/She/It does not (doesn't) + verb

For Example:

I don't like spicy food.

We don't play at night.
She doesn't drink coffee.
He doesn't work here.

QUESTION FORM

Do + I/you/we/they + verb?
Does + he/she/it + verb?

For Example:

Do you like English?
Do they play football?
Does she eat rice?
Does he live nearby?

I wake up at 7 AM, then I get ready for work.
She eats breakfast with her family every morning.
He walks to school because it is near his home.
We learn English because we want to improve our life.
They work in a shop and return home in the evening.
My mother cooks delicious food every day.
The teacher explains lessons clearly.
My friend plays the guitar very well.
I watch English videos to practice listening.
We go to the park when the weather is good.

Here is a small story made using Present Simple:

Ali lives in a small town.
He wakes up early every morning.
He drinks tea with his family.

Ali goes to college at 8 AM.

He studies computer science.

After college, he plays cricket with his friends.

In the evening, he reads books and watches English videos.

He sleeps at 10 PM every night.

This story shows how Present Simple talks about a person's daily life.

Please tell me in the comments

What you understand this lesson

Ok next

PRESENT CONTINUOUS

Present Continuous is the tense we use to talk about actions happening right now or actions happening around this time (today, this week, these days).

It shows movement, action, and progress.

Think of Present Continuous like a live video of what is happening in this moment.

WHEN WE USE PRESENT CONTINUOUS

✓ Action happening right now

Something that is happening at this exact moment.

Examples:

I am talking to you right now.

You are watching this video.

She is cooking at the moment.

They are playing cricket now.

✓ Action happening today / these days

Something you are doing around this time, but not always.

Examples:

I am working from home today.

She is studying a lot these days.

They are learning English this month.

We are practicing speaking every evening this week.

✓ Temporary actions

Something that is happening for a short time, not forever.

Examples:

I am living with my friend for a few weeks.

She is staying with her aunt today.

They are working in a shop for the summer.

✓ Changing situations

Situations that are slowly changing.

Examples:

My English is improving.

The weather is getting colder.

The city is growing fast.

People are becoming more careful about health.

✓ Near future plans

Something you already decided to do soon.

Examples:

I am meeting my teacher tomorrow.

She is traveling next week.

We are starting a new class next month.

STRUCTURE

Subject + am/is/are + verb + ing

I am eating.

You are watching.

We are learning.

They are playing.

He/She/It is working.

NEGATIVE FORM

I am not eating.

You are not watching.

She is not cooking.

They are not playing.

Short forms:

I'm not, you're not, she's not, they're not.

QUESTION FORM

Am/Is/Are + subject + verb + ing?

Examples:

Are you watching the video?

Is she cooking?

Are they studying today?

Is he playing outside?

REAL-LIFE EXAMPLES

I am learning English right now.

You are focusing on the lesson.

She is making tea in the kitchen.

We are talking about grammar today.

They are building a new house these days.

My brother is sleeping at the moment.

The baby is crying because he is hungry.

The students are practicing their speaking skills.

It is raining outside.

The teacher is writing on the board.

Here is a simple story using Present Continuous:

Sara is preparing for her exam today.

She is reading her English book.

Her brother is watching TV in the living room.

Her mother is cooking dinner.

Her father is working on his laptop.

Everyone in the house is busy today.

This shows actions happening “right now” or “today.”

Ok next

PRESENT PERFECT

Present Perfect talks about past actions that are connected to the present.

It is not only about the past.

It is not only about the present.

It is the link between past and now.

We use Present Perfect when:

- the action happened before but the effect is still now
- the action is recent
- we talk about life experiences
- the time is not important
- something started in the past and continues today

STRUCTURE

Subject + have/has + past participle (3rd form)

I have eaten.

You have learned.

We have seen.

They have finished.

He has gone.

She has written.

WHEN WE USE PRESENT PERFECT

Number 1: Life Experiences

We use Present Perfect to talk about things we have done in our life (time not important).

Examples:

I have visited Lahore.

She has tried sushi.

They have seen this movie.

We have traveled to many cities.

We do NOT say the exact time.

Example: "I have visited Lahore."

(Not "yesterday," not "last year.")

Number 2: Recent Actions with Present Result

The action happened recently, and we can still feel the result.

Examples:

She has finished her homework. (Homework is done now.)

I have cleaned my room. (Room is clean now.)

He has broken his phone. (Phone is broken now.)

They have started the project. (Project is active now.)

Number 3: Actions that started in the past and continue now

We talk about how long something has been true.

Examples:

I have lived here for 10 years.

She has worked in this company since 2019.

They have stayed in this house for 2 months.

We have known each other since childhood.

This shows a long time, but still true today.

Number 4: Achievements

We use Present Perfect to show accomplishments.

Examples:

I have learned many new words.

She has completed her degree.

He has won several awards.

They have built a beautiful house.

NEGATIVE FORM

I/You/We/They have not (haven't) + 3rd form

He/She/It has not (hasn't) + 3rd form

Examples:

I haven't seen that movie.

We haven't finished the work.

She hasn't eaten anything.

He hasn't called me today.

QUESTION FORM

Have/Has + subject + 3rd form?

Examples:

Have you seen this?

Have they started the class?

Has she finished her homework?

Has he gone home?

REAL-LIFE EXAMPLES

I have learned English for many years.
She has worked very hard this month.
They have visited their grandparents many times.
We have studied grammar today.
He has made a lot of progress.
The teacher has explained the lesson clearly.
My brother has bought a new phone.
I have watched this video before.
We have traveled to Karachi several times.
She has cooked dinner today.

Here is a small story using Present Perfect:

Ali has learned English for three years.
He has watched many English videos.
He has read many books.
His sister has supported him a lot.
They have practiced speaking together.
Ali has improved his English very fast.

This shows past actions that still matter today.

Ok next

Last

PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS

Present Perfect Continuous shows an action that:

- started in the past
- continued for some time
- is still happening now
- and may continue in the future

This tense focuses on time, duration, and continuous action.

It answers two questions: “How long?”

“Since when?”

STRUCTURE

Subject + have/has been + verb + ing

I have been studying.

You have been working.

We have been waiting.

They have been playing.

She has been cooking.

He has been walking.

WHEN WE USE PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS

Number 1: Long actions that started in the past AND are still happening

Examples:

I have been studying English for two hours.

She has been cooking since morning.

They have been playing football since 4 PM.

We have been waiting for the bus for 20 minutes.

Number 2: To show effort, hard work, or progress

Examples:

He has been trying to find a job for months.

She has been practicing her speaking every day.

I have been working on my project for a long time.

They have been improving their skills step by step.

Number 3: To show repeated or continuous activity

Examples:

My phone has been ringing all morning.

The children have been laughing for an hour.

We have been talking about grammar for some time.

Number 4: To show temporary situations

Examples:

I have been living in this house for a few weeks.

She has been staying with her aunt this month.

They have been working in a shop during summer.

Next

NEGATIVE FORM

I/You/We/They have not been + verb + ing

He/She/It has not been + verb + ing

Examples:

I have not been sleeping well these days.

She has not been studying this week.

He has not been working lately.

Next

QUESTION FORM

Have/Has + subject + been + verb + ing?

Examples:

Have you been studying today?

Have they been working all morning?

Has she been cooking since noon?

Has he been waiting for a long time?

REAL-LIFE EXAMPLES

I have been learning English since January.

She has been working in the kitchen all evening.

They have been practicing their pronunciation every night.

We have been talking for over an hour.

He has been exercising to lose weight.

The students have been reading for a test.

My friend has been playing the guitar all day.

The weather ha s been changing a lot this week.

Here is a simple story using Present Perfect Continuous:

Aisha has been studying English for three hours.

She has been preparing for her speaking test.

Her brother has been helping her with vocabulary.

Her parents have been supporting her.

Aisha has been practicing every day, and she is improving very fast.

This shows a long action with ongoing progress.

Thanks for watching

Click The Link playlist and watch Day 1 to 21 Days English challenge

I am waiting for you bye bye