

Let me ask you something.
Have you ever walked into a store...
maybe you wanted to buy a jacket... or a pair of shoes...
but the moment the shop assistant started speaking English...
your brain suddenly stopped working?
They ask a simple question like:
“Can I help you?”
And suddenly your mind goes blank.
You know the words.
You studied English.
You watched English videos.
But in that moment... you just stand there thinking.
What should I say?
What if I make a mistake?
What if they don't understand me?
So you smile politely...
“No, thank you.”
And walk away.
Even though you actually needed something.
Later, you think:
“That was so easy.”
“I should have said something.”
“Why didn't I speak?”
If that sounds familiar... relax.
This happens to many English learners.
Understanding English is one skill.
Speaking English in real life is another skill.
And today... we are going to practice real English used while shopping.
Simple sentences.

Real conversations.

Speaking practice.

By the end of this lesson, you will learn how to:

enter a store confidently...

ask for products...

talk about prices...

ask for sizes and colors...

ask about quality and discounts...

and complete a purchase in English.

So let's begin.

Part 1 – Entering a Store.

Imagine this situation.

You walk into a clothing store.

A shop assistant smiles and says:

“Hello! Can I help you find something?”

This sentence is extremely common.

Let's learn how to respond.

Response 1 – When You Need Help.

If you need help, you can say:

“I'm looking for a jacket.”

Repeat after me.

I'm looking for a jacket.

Very good.

Another example:

“I'm looking for running shoes.”

Repeat:

I'm looking for running shoes.

Good.

Another example:

“I'm looking for a gift.”

This is useful if you are buying something for a friend.

You could also say:

“I'm looking for a winter coat.”

Or

“I’m looking for a pair of jeans.”

All of these are natural English sentences.

Response 2 – When You Just Want to Look.

Sometimes you don't need help.

You just want to walk around and see things.

You can say:

“I’m just looking, thank you.”

Repeat:

I’m just looking, thank you.

Native speakers use this phrase all the time.

It sounds polite and friendly.

Speaking Drill.

Listen and repeat.

I’m looking for a jacket.

I’m looking for running shoes.

I’m looking for a gift.

I’m just looking, thank you.

Great.

Part 2 – Asking About Price.

Now imagine you see something you like.

Maybe a beautiful jacket.

But you want to know the price.

You can ask:

“How much is this?”

Repeat.

How much is this?

Very good.

If you are talking about multiple items, say:

“How much are these?”

Example:

How much are these shoes?

Or

How much are these shirts?

Possible Answers.

The shop assistant might say:

“That jacket is sixty dollars.”

Or

“These shoes are forty-five dollars.”

Or

“That shirt is thirty dollars.”

Sometimes they might also say:

“These are on sale.”

That means the product has a discount.

Listening Practice.

Listen to this short conversation.

Customer:

“Excuse me, how much is this jacket?”

Shop assistant:

“That one is sixty dollars.”

Customer:

“Okay, thank you.”

Speaking Drill.

Repeat these questions.

How much is this?

How much are these shoes?

How much are these shirts?

Excellent.

Part 3 – Asking for Size.

Now imagine the jacket looks perfect...

but the size is not correct.

Maybe it is too small.

You can ask:

“Do you have this in a larger size?”

Repeat.

Do you have this in a larger size?

Good.

You can also ask:

“Do you have this in medium?”

Or

“Do you have this in large?”

These are very common sentences in clothing stores.

Trying Clothes.

Another important sentence is:

“Can I try this on?”

Repeat.

Can I try this on?

This means you want to try the clothes in the fitting room.

The assistant may say:

“Sure. The fitting room is over there.”

Conversation Practice.

Shop assistant:

“Can I help you?”

Customer:

“Yes, I’m looking for a jacket.”

Shop assistant:

“What size?”

Customer:

“Medium.”

Shop assistant:

“Here you go.”

Customer:

“Can I try this on?”

Part 4 – Asking About Colors.

Sometimes you like the product...

but not the color.

Maybe the shirt is blue.

But you want black.

You can ask:

“Do you have this in another color?”

Repeat.

Do you have this in another color?

Another example:

“Do you have this in black?”

Or

“Do you have this in red?”

Or

“Do you have this in white?”

These are very natural questions.

Listening Example.

Customer:

“Do you have this shirt in black?”

Shop assistant:

“Yes, we do.”

Customer:

“Great, thank you.”

Part 5 – Asking About Quality.

Sometimes we want to know more about the product.

For example:

“Is this good quality?”

Repeat.

Is this good quality?

Another question:

“How long does this last?”

This is common when buying electronics.

Another useful sentence is:

“Is there a warranty?”

A warranty means the company will repair the product if it breaks.

Part 6 – Talking About Discounts.

Everyone likes discounts.

You can ask:

“Is this on sale?”

Repeat.

Is this on sale?

Or

“Is there any discount?”

Sometimes stores have special promotions.

For example:

“Buy one, get one free.”

This means if you buy one product, you get another one for free.

Part 7 – Paying at the Cashier.

Now imagine you decide to buy the item.

You go to the cashier.

The cashier may say:

“Will you pay by cash or card?”

You can answer:

“I’ll pay by card.”

Repeat.

I’ll pay by card.

Or

“I’ll pay in cash.”

After payment they may ask:

“Would you like a receipt?”

You can answer:

“Yes, please.”

Or

“No, thank you.”

Then they may say:

“Thank you for shopping with us.”

Full Shopping Conversation Practice.

Let’s practice a full conversation.

Listen carefully.

Shop assistant:

“Hello! Can I help you?”

Customer:

“Yes, I’m looking for a black jacket.”

Shop assistant:

“What size are you looking for?”

Customer:

“Medium.”

Shop assistant:

“Here you go.”

Customer:

“Thank you. Can I try this on?”

Shop assistant:

“Of course. The fitting room is over there.”

Customer:

“Great.”

Later at the cashier.

Cashier:

“Will you pay by cash or card?”

Customer:

“I’ll pay by card.”

Cashier:

“Would you like a receipt?”

Customer:

“Yes, please.”

Cashier:

“Thank you for shopping with us.”

Customer:

“Thank you.”

Speaking Practice Challenge.

Now it's your turn.

Answer these questions aloud.

Question 1.

You walk into a store.

What do you say if you need a jacket?

You can say:

“I’m looking for a jacket.”

Question 2.

How do you ask the price?

“How much is this?”

Question 3.

How do you ask for a different size?

“Do you have this in medium?”

Very good.

Final Advice.

Remember something important.

You do not need perfect English.

Most shopping conversations use very simple sentences.

The key is practice.

Practice speaking.

Practice listening.

Practice real-life situations.

The more you practice...

the more natural your English will become.

And one day...

you will walk into a store...

and realize something amazing.

English is no longer scary.

It feels natural.
